THE FLOOD AT SAN MARCIAL.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF THE RECENT DIS-ASTER IN THAT TOWN.

San Marcial Tex, August 31.]

The concentration of storm clouds over the Magdalena and San Mateo mountains, between 6 and 7 o'clock Thursday evening, warped the citizens that a heavy deluge of rain was falling on the higher levels surrounding the town to the west.

From 8 o'clock until midnight, with only momentary breaks the rain fell.
 At the latter hour, although the low sections of the town were covered with from 12 to 18 inches of water, the tension on the nerves of those who had not retired was relaxed, for the force of the storm seemed to have been spent. However, many remained up to watch results, and the precaution proved a wise one.

About 2 a. m., messengers were seen rushing from house to house conveying the startling intelligence that a flood was upon us. No substantiation of this was necessary, for drowning the occasional roar of the distant thunder, and approaching through the inky darkness, could be plainly heard the rapid advance of wildly rushing water emptied from the numerous arroyos and water channels leading from the mountain passes.

Higher and higher rose the water, louder and louder sounded the echo of its wild rush, until about 4 o'clock, at which time the high mark was reached.
 Until daylight there was no perceptible fall or gain, but shortly after the cheering news was passed from mouth to mouth that the ebbing of the tide had set in.

During this frightful period of anxiety the excitement was intensified by an occasional dull thud produced by falling walls. Added to this was the uncertainty as to whose home was destroyed, as again and again the dread sound was repeated.

Daylight dawned at last and the spirits of the people rose with the bright sun when it was learned that no lives had been sacrificed, and the damage to property, although quite serious, was far below the estimate of many.

Following is a list of those who were the greatest sufferers, although there are many others whose dwellings were injured in part and whose loss through injury to furniture and wearing apparel is far from trifling:

J. N. Broyles—Adobe corral caved in, injury to warehouse foundation and a large amount of grain and feed spoiled.
 Probable loss, $2,000.

Wah Sing—Laundry building, $150
 A. B. Ely—Residence occupied by Dr.
 Cruickshank, $200.

Mrs. Kuhn—Adobe house, $200.
 Methodist parsonage, $300.

Harry Jaynes—Residence, $400.
 C. F. Knauss—Several combination adobe houses and furniture, $1,500.

 Don Campbell—New residence, $1,000

Bird Dyer—Residence, partly collapsed $500.

Dr. Cruickshank—City barn, $200; corral at residence occupied by Mr.
 Waddingham, $300.

Byron Deane—Adobe residence, $300.
 The water stood a foot deep in Frank Solomon's saloon and in Sam Lung's restaurant in the rear. The San Marcial house also suffered in this respect. For a time it was feared the Bee office was doomed as the water was above the stone foundation, but very little damage was done it.

All that portion of the town, commencing at a point several hundred yards north of the flour mill, taking in the Methodist church, the school house Mr. Lane's residence, and south as far as Mr. Knauss's corner, was covered to a depth of two to four feet.

But, as in the case of Socorro, a visit to Old San Marcial told a much sadder tale, for more than one-half of the town, or some 50 adobe houses are a complete wreck. The south end of the town was in the direct track of the water as it rushed through the deep gulch toward the river, and many of the poor mexicans were rendered homeless. Some of them managed to remove their household goods, which were piled up in great disorder in places beyond the reach of the flood. Most of the residences destroyed in the American town belonged to hard working mechanics and men in the train service, and represented the accumulation of years of toil and economy. Those best able to stand reverses suffered the least in this instance.

The water is gradually subsiding, and the town will no doubt assume its wonted air of activity in a few days. Not since 1884 has high water invaded the town. At that time it was caused by the river overflowing and very little damage was done.

Received this week, 200 pairs of the the celebrated Blue Ribbon School Shoes, all sizes, now in stock.

THE GAME LAW.

The open season for hunting deer, antelope, elk and mountain sheep begins October 1st, and for hunting turkeys and quail, from October 1st to March 1st in each year. We thought proper to call attention to this, as many persons seem to understand that the open season begins Sept. 1st. Violators of this statute will be prosecuted.

Very respectfully

The South Homestake mine is still at work, as is the Rip Van Winkle.

The Old Abe and North Homestake mills are as usual continually pounding away on pay ore.

Reports have it that the "Prospect" in the Jicarillas is showing bonanza as development progresses.

The Elizabeth is taking out good ore and improving as the work advances, and the ore body is much larger than expected.

CHURCH AND CROPS.

INTERESTING LETTER ABOUT MATTERS SPIRITUAL AND MATERIAL.

WEED, N. M., Aug. 23, 1895.

TO THE EDITOR:

I will drop you a few lines for publication.

The people of this community have been enjoying a series of religious services for the past three weeks. The Lincoln Baptist Association met here on the 8th inst. and remained in session the 9th, 10th and 11th. Large delegations came from Hope, Roswell, Eddy and Lincoln districts. The visiting clergy were: Rev. George P. Wright, Denver, Colo.; Rev. Reed, Eddy, N. M.; Rev.
 Roewell, N. M.; Rev. Mr. Skinner, Bonito, N. M., and Rev. Mit. Hill, Fort Stanton, N. M. The Hon. T. C. Tillotson, our probate judge, was also present.
 After the adjournment of the association religious services were carried on during the week by our local preachers, Rev. R. P. Pope and Rev. John Hunter.
 After the close of the Baptist services, Elder G. A. Trutt, a Christian preacher of Hope, N. M., began a series of meetings, which have just closed with several additions to the church.

We have had an abundance of rain here this season.

Crops of corn, wheat, oats and barley are the finest that have been raised here for years.

It is predicted that the potato crop will be short on account of blight, which farmers attribute to too much rain.

Grass is fine and stock fat. Sorely the stockmen should feel joyful, with an abundance of range and cattle bringing good figures, with a still higher tendency.

Well, we are entering into a reign of good times all over the country. The tidal wave (democratic) has set in and will bear us on to the sea of prosperity.
 FRED. J. MILLER.

The EAGLE—$2 a year.

The Chinese government, being unable to protect missionaries from people whom they have angered by impertinently meddling with a religion that was gray with age before the Star of Bethlehem shone, has ordered the intruders out of disturbed provinces for their own safety, whereat there is a great clamor and cry for protection of missionaries by other governments. The most effective measure of protection is so simple that it has never occurred to the diplomats who are gravely discussing the "situation." What is the matter with telling the missionaries to keep out of places where they are not wanted?—Independent Democrat.

 spect—52 numbers, only two dollars.

Mrs. S. A. Kell, of Pomona, Cal., had the bad luck to sprain her ankle. "I tried several liniments," she says, "but it and testifying to its efficacy." This medicine is also of great value for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the chest, pleurisy and all deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by
